

Oxford Left Review Subscription

This MCR notes:

1. The Oxford Left Review (OLR) is a termly, student-run journal.
2. The OLR has published articles by our students in the past and will continue providing a platform for young writers.
3. Small contributions by MCRs are crucial for the OLR to maintain its independence and continuity.

This MCR believes:

1. That the OLR is a place for critical debate, intellectual exchange and should provide its students access to a broad variety of ideas.
2. That independent student publications in Oxford are an important part its students' cultural and political life.
3. That this MCR should support student publications and journalistic endeavours where possible.

This MCR resolves:

1. To subscribe to The Oxford Left Review for £50 annually and have a termly issue delivered to the MCR
